CONGRATULATIONS

CONGRATULATORY MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

On behalf of the Deakin community, I would like to congratulate you on graduating from Deakin University.

Today's ceremony not only marks the completion of years of hard work and dedication, it also signifies the beginning of an exciting new chapter in your life.

Graduation Day is also a very proud day for those who have been there with you through all the ups and downs of your academic journey. Graduation ceremonies are important milestones. They give us the opportunity to look optimistically towards the future and to acknowledge the past through centuries-old academic traditions. But most importantly they are an opportunity to celebrate your achievements with the friends, family and teachers who care about you.

Your graduation is a beginning, not an ending. As you walk across the stage to take these first steps towards your profession, an entrepreneurial pursuit or perhaps to further study, I encourage you to see your success as both a source of pride in your past achievements and as a basis for confidence in your future.

Mr John Stanhope

As a Deakin alumnus I urge you stay connected, and to take advantage of the many opportunities to become active and engaged members of the Deakin family. I too am a proud Deakin alumnus. I know Deakin as a vibrant and dynamic community and have valued the lifelong friendships and networks I have made.

Mr John Stanhope
Chancellor

CONGRATULATORY MESSAGE FROM THE VICE-CHANCELLOR

Congratulations! You are now a graduate of Deakin University. It is an important day for you and your family, and a proud day for us too, as we watch you and your fellow graduates walk across the stage.

My message to all of you is that whatever your future career, pursue your passion even when the road ahead seems difficult. Work hard, have fun, but remain aware of the inevitable and constant changes in the world and the fabulous opportunities that will come your way. Remember that the greatest innovations in history always come from people who are bold enough to explore new frontiers and to think differently. Be curious, be brave, be creative and be persistent.

The key message of this graduation ceremony is that it tells you are ready to go in to action. Ideas, knowledge and know-how will be the critical currency for success in the 21st century, and I hope you will put your degree to work to make a difference in the world.

Very often it is only after graduation that graduates recognise the importance of the stature and reputation of their university. After all, it is a university's reputation that determines the value and currency of the award you have worked so hard to attain.

Professor Jane den Hollander

As alumni you'll be pleased to know that Deakin now ranks 36 in the QS ranking of the world's universities under 50 and in the top 3 per cent of the worlds' universities in all the major rankings.

Congratulations on the degrees you have been awarded. Have a fabulous day, applaud your fellow graduates and I wish you good fortune for your future careers.

Professor Jane den Hollander
Vice-Chancellor and President

THE GRADUATION CEREMONY

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF TRADITIONAL LAND OWNERS

Deakin University would like to acknowledge the Wathaurong People of the Kulin Nation, the traditional custodians of the land on which this Graduation Ceremony is taking place. We pay our respects for their continued care of the land and further extend that respect to elders past, present and future.

ORDER OF CEREMONY

Processional music heralds the arrival of the Academic Procession for the graduation ceremony.

At the commencement of this music, graduands and guests are asked to stand and remain standing for the National Anthem.

The Master of Ceremonies will open proceedings and the Chancellor will deliver the opening address. The Vice-Chancellor will then introduce the guest speaker who will deliver the occasional address.

The Chancellor (or representative) will then make a formal declaration conferring the awards of the University on the graduates, both present and in absentia, and he will invite graduates to proceed to the stage according to the order published in the program.

A Faculty Executive Dean will read out the names of graduates being presented to the Chancellor.

At the conclusion of the presentation of the graduates, a representative of the graduating students will deliver a brief response.

The Vice-Chancellor will deliver the closing address. Following the closing address, there will be a musical performance.

At the conclusion of the ceremony guests are requested to stand while the stage party and graduates leave the hall.

Refreshments will then be served in the marquee in the John Hay Courtyard.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

Maces were originally medieval weapons carried by bodyguards to kings and sergeants-at-arms. Much later, the mace became of ceremonial rather than practical significance and organisations such as civic corporations and universities adopted the mace as a symbol of the rule of legal authority.

The University's mace is displayed at meetings of the University Council and on such ceremonial occasions as conferring ceremonies. The bearer of the mace, in academic processions, 'guards' the Chancellor. Deakin's mace was presented to the University by Mr Donald Thomson, Sir Wilfred Brookes and Mr Norman Stephen (Alcoa Australia).

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

In academic processions, the order of precedence on entry is from junior to most senior. The Chancellor, therefore, is the last member of the procession, followed by the mace-bearer. The Deakin Academic Procession and stage party usually consists of:

ACADEMIC DRESS

Academic dress is an important reminder of the long history of universities in western civilisation. The three main elements of academic dress are the gown, the hood and the head-dress, which were all once articles of everyday outer dress. Both gowns and hoods, when in common use, were often lined and this lining was decorative, as well as practical. In medieval times, the higher the rank of the wearer, the more sumptuous the gown.

In universities there is still a difference in the apparel of scholars of various ranks reflecting the origins of the academic dress. Today's academic head-dress evolved from various hats and bonnets of earlier times. Deakin University's academic dress, like that of most Australian universities, derives from dress worn at the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge.

THE UNIVERSITY

ALFRED DEAKIN

Deakin University was named in honour of Alfred Deakin (1856–1919), a remarkable Australian statesman, leading figure of the federation movement and three-time Prime Minister of Australia.

Alfred Deakin was a man of broad vision. Praised as a political leader, he was an outstanding orator, accomplished lawyer, a journalist, poet, an intellectual and an idealist motivated by a sense of duty to his country.

The son of English migrants, Alfred Deakin was born and educated in Melbourne, studying law at the University of Melbourne. He embarked upon a career in journalism with The Age and was a prolific reader of literature, philosophy, law and science, earning most of his income as a writer of social and political commentaries.

In 1879, Alfred Deakin launched his political career and became a successful Liberal candidate for the Victorian Parliament. A believer in democratic social reform, he became the acknowledged leader of the Australian Federation movement in Victoria. He was an active campaigner, a delegate at the federal conventions, member of the constitutional drafting committee and colonial representative in London.

Alfred Deakin was Deputy Prime Minister and Attorney-General in Australia's first government and, in 1903, he became Prime Minister. His many achievements include the establishment of the High Court of Australia, the introduction of labour and social reforms, the promulgation of new technologies such as irrigation and wireless telegraphy, support for the exploration of Antarctica and the introduction of financial support for Australian writers.

Alfred Deakin

The values of innovation, leadership, scholarship and reform embodied in Alfred Deakin are also fundamental values of Deakin University.

ABOUT DEAKIN UNIVERSITY

Deakin University is Australia's ninth largest university. As a public not-for-profit university, Deakin combines excellent research and teaching with a strong focus on strengthening the communities it serves.

The University was established with the Deakin University Act of 1974 as Victoria's fourth university and the first in regional Victoria. Today it has more than 52 000 students, of whom approximately 7000 are international students from more than 100 countries. Almost 14 000 students choose to study online.

Deakin University has four campuses – one in Melbourne, two in Geelong and one in Warrnambool. Each campus has a distinctive character, rich culture and a strong presence in the local community.

In addition, Deakin has prestigious multipurpose facilities in the Melbourne, Geelong and Warrnambool CBDs, a network of learning centres stretching across outer metropolitan and regional Victoria and international offices in India, China and Indonesia.

Deakin is a sector leader for student satisfaction, currently ranked number one in Victoria for the sixth consecutive year (Australian Graduate Survey 2010–15). Deakin has a student-focused culture with a well-deserved reputation for being accessible, helpful and friendly. It has a long standing record for using cutting-edge technology in education, while providing highly personalised experiences.

Advances in research have been a hallmark of Deakin's success in recent years, with impressive growth in quality, impact and income.

In the most recent Excellence in Research for Australia (ERA) rankings, Deakin Research received the top ranking of five in ten fields of research and a ranking of four in 16 fields of research. Both rankings are defined as above world standard.

Deakin is renowned for developing award-winning partnerships with industry, governments, communities, professional associations and other education providers. Building on successes across Australia, these alliances now spread to more than 30 countries. Deakin's alumni networks also stretch across the globe, with more than 200 000 members from more than 110 countries.

BUILDING ON THE UNIVERSITY'S SUCCESS

Deakin University's Strategic Plan – LIVE the future: Agenda 2020 – provides a framework for a bold and exciting future, while remaining true to the University's founding goals:

- to develop lasting and mutually beneficial relationships with rural and regional communities, in particular those in Geelong and Western Victoria
- to offer an educational experience that will widen participation and support students from diverse backgrounds.

These important aims continue to be core to the future of Deakin University. However, in a world that is now globally connected and where excellence and new ideas are available at the touch of a button, we will ensure that engagement and innovation 'anywhere' and 'everywhere we are' is grounded in all aspects of Deakin life – its teaching, its research and its enterprise – to enable our students and staff to thrive and to excel.

The University's vision and mission for its students, staff, alumni, partners and friends is to offer personalised experience with premium digital engagement, creating the power and opportunities to live in a connected and evolving world. Deakin will be Australia's premier university in driving the digital frontier – to enable globally-connected education for the jobs of the future and research that makes a difference to the communities we serve.

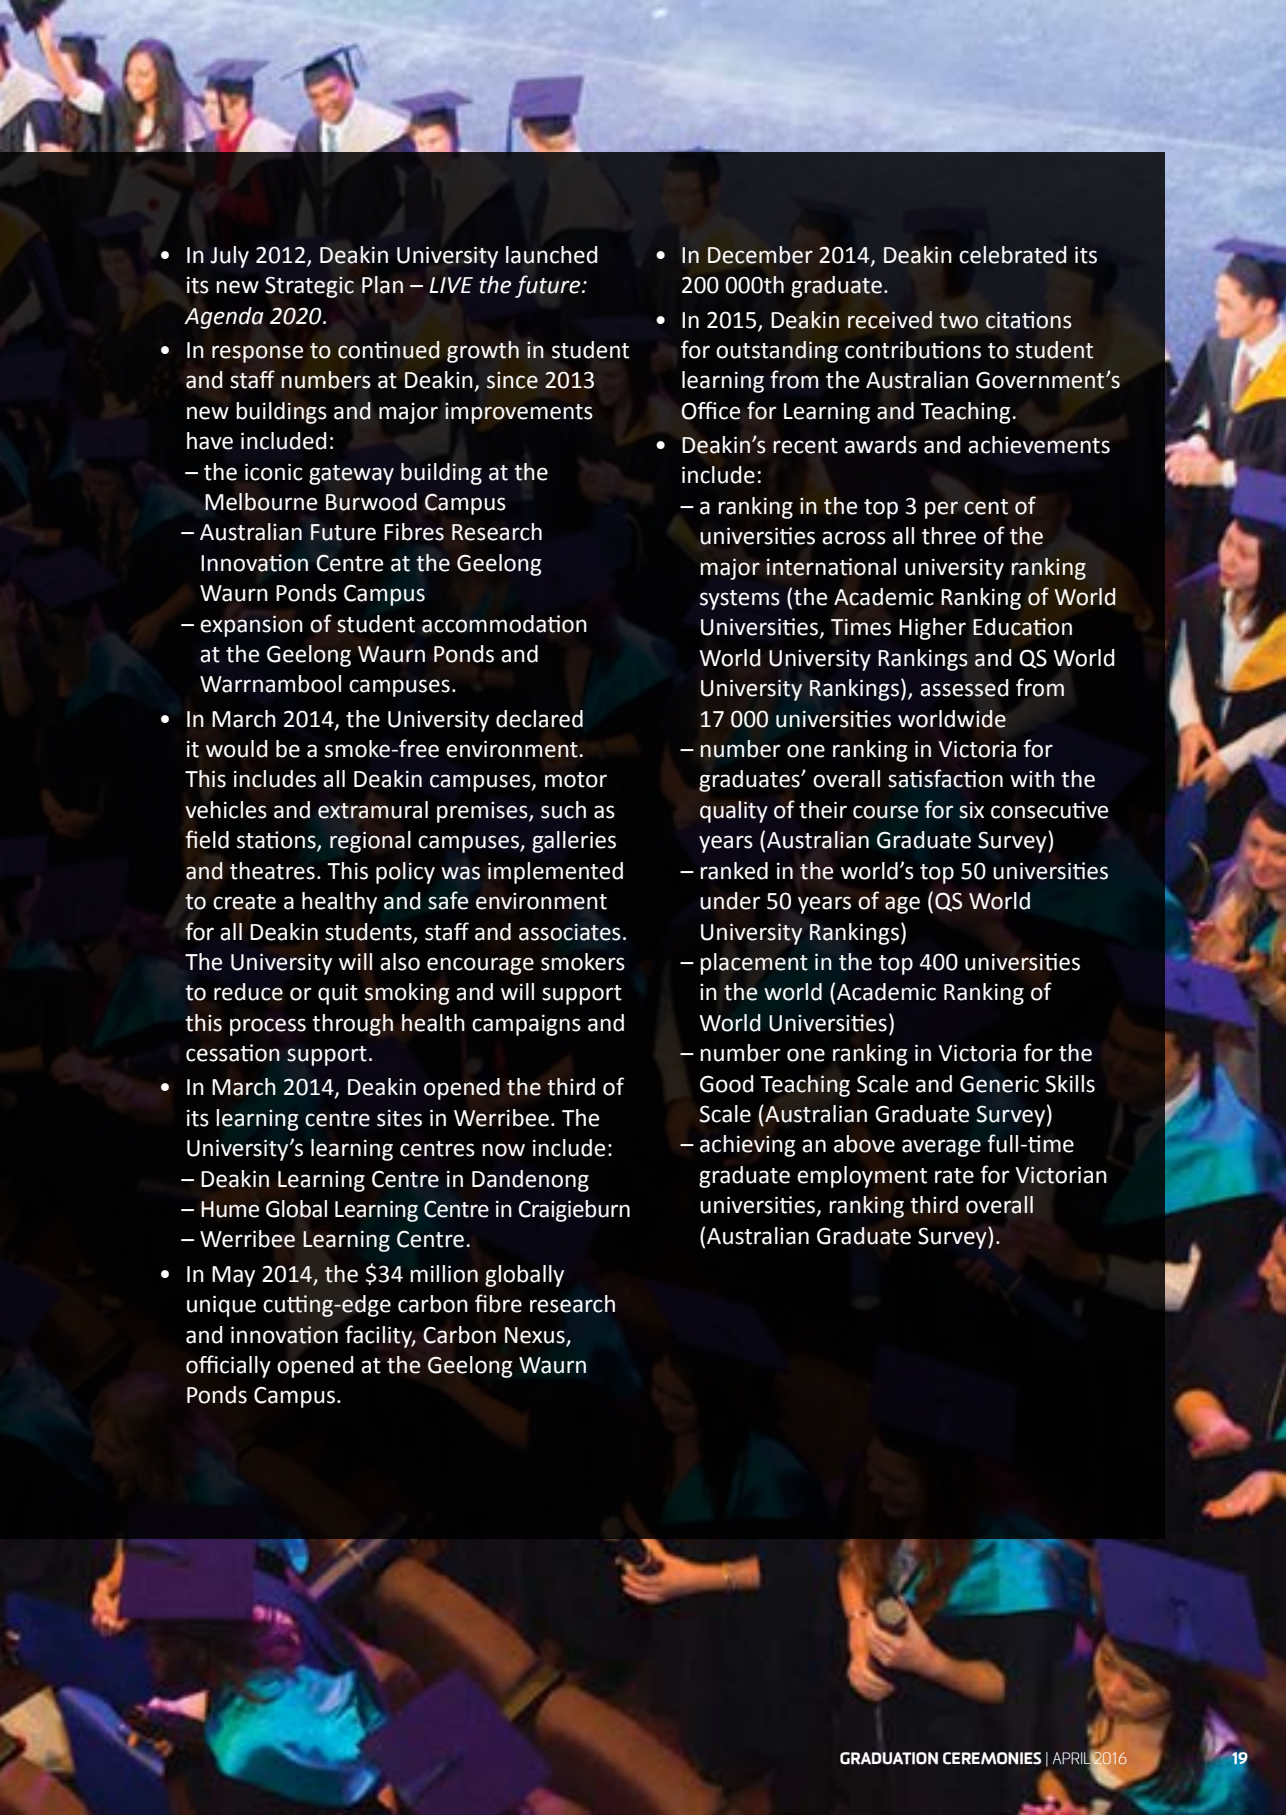

Informed by its Australian and Victorian context and engaged locally in the communities it serves, Deakin promises to advance:

- learning – offer brilliant education where you are and where you want to go
- ideas – make a difference through world-class innovation and research
- value – strengthen our communities, enable our partners and enhance our enterprise
- experience – delight our students, our alumni, our staff and our friends.

For all these reasons, Deakin University occupies an important place in the Australian higher education landscape.

FAST FACTS ABOUT DEAKIN

- Deakin was established by the Victorian Parliament in 1974 as a 'university in the Geelong area'. Deakin began teaching on 1 April 1977.
- Deakin University is named after Alfred Deakin, who is often called Australia's Voice of Federation and was Prime Minister three times between 1903 and 1910.
- Deakin was the first Australian university to be named after a politician.
- When it was established, Deakin incorporated two existing Geelong-based institutions – the Geelong State College and the Gordon Institute of Technology.
- Deakin initially operated from four sites, all in Geelong: the Waurin Ponds Campus it inherited from the Gordon Institute, the Vines Road Campus of the Geelong State Teachers College and two smaller locations.
- Deakin had approximately 2500 students in its first year (1977), rising to 4800 in 1980.
- By 1984, Deakin had consolidated its operations at the Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus.
- Deakin's growth outside Geelong began in 1990 when it amalgamated with the Warrnambool Institute of Advanced Education. This continued in 1991 when it amalgamated with Victoria College, which operated from Burwood, Toorak and Clayton.
- The amalgamations with the Warrnambool Institute and Victoria College saw Deakin's student numbers more than triple in the five years leading up to 1992.
- In 1993 Deakin was described as the 'Rolls Royce' of universities offering distance education.
- Deakin was one of the first Australian universities to embrace professional and continuing education to corporate clients, establishing Deakin Australia (now known as DeakinPrime) in 1993.
- In the mid-1970s, the disused woolstores on the waterfront in central Geelong was one site considered and rejected for the proposed university that was to become Deakin. In 1996, this idea came to fruition with the opening of the Geelong Waterfront Campus. The campus is the result of an award-winning reconstruction of the buildings.
- Enrolments at the Geelong Waterfront Campus rose by 77 per cent in the five years leading up to 2008.
- In 2008, the Deakin University School of Medicine opened, becoming Victoria's first rural and regional medical school.
- In 2009, the refurbished Dennys Lascelles Building was reopened, housing the Deakin Geelong Health Precinct and the Alfred Deakin Research Institute.
- In September 2011, Deakin announced the investment of $5 million over the next five years to place its Warrnambool Campus in the international spotlight for marine and aquaculture research and teaching.
- In December 2011, the first medical graduates were conferred.
- February 2012 saw the first intake of students in the new Bachelor of Vision Science/Master of Optometry degree (within the School of Medicine). By utilising the University's three trimester system, the course is Australia's only accelerated sequential optometry program, completed in just under 3.5 years of full-time study.

- In July 2012, Deakin University launched its new Strategic Plan – LIVE the future: Agenda 2020.
 - In response to continued growth in student and staff numbers at Deakin, since 2013 new buildings and major improvements have included:
 - the iconic gateway building at the Melbourne Burwood Campus
 - Australian Future Fibres Research Innovation Centre at the Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus
 - expansion of student accommodation at the Geelong Waurin Ponds and Warrnambool campuses.
 - In March 2014, the University declared it would be a smoke-free environment. This includes all Deakin campuses, motor vehicles and extramural premises, such as field stations, regional campuses, galleries and theatres. This policy was implemented to create a healthy and safe environment for all Deakin students, staff and associates. The University will also encourage smokers to reduce or quit smoking and will support this process through health campaigns and cessation support.
 - In March 2014, Deakin opened the third of its learning centre sites in Werribee. The University's learning centres now include:
 - Deakin Learning Centre in Dandenong
 - Hume Global Learning Centre in Craigieburn
 - Werribee Learning Centre.
 - In May 2014, the $34 million globally unique cutting-edge carbon fibre research and innovation facility, Carbon Nexus, officially opened at the Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus.
 - In December 2014, Deakin celebrated its 200 000th graduate.
 - In 2015, Deakin received two citations for outstanding contributions to student learning from the Australian Government's Office for Learning and Teaching.
 - Deakin's recent awards and achievements include:
 - a ranking in the top 3 per cent of universities across all three of the major international university ranking systems (the Academic Ranking of World Universities, Times Higher Education World University Rankings and QS World University Rankings), assessed from 17 000 universities worldwide
 - number one ranking in Victoria for graduates' overall satisfaction with the quality of their course for six consecutive years (Australian Graduate Survey)
 - ranked in the world's top 50 universities under 50 years of age (QS World University Rankings)
 - placement in the top 400 universities in the world (Academic Ranking of World Universities)
 - number one ranking in Victoria for the Good Teaching Scale and Generic Skills Scale (Australian Graduate Survey)
 - achieving an above average full-time graduate employment rate for Victorian universities, ranking third overall (Australian Graduate Survey).

THE CAMPUSES

Deakin is a large university with all the accompanying resources and infrastructure, but its campuses are small enough to retain their own character and sense of community. Each of our campuses offers a unique atmosphere – from the inspiring architecture and bayside appeal of our Geelong Waterfront Campus, to the cafe culture of our Melbourne Burwood Campus, the spectacular coastal location at our Warrnambool Campus or the mix of activity and open space at our Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus.

MELBOURNE BURWOOD CAMPUS

This thriving campus is Deakin's largest. Located 15 km from the Melbourne CBD, it boasts open and inviting spaces for socialising and studying, innovative architecture and wireless locations. An ambitious building program has resulted in a new complex of spacious modern buildings, including the gateway building situated on Burwood Highway. Refurbishment of older buildings, a library extension, expansion of residential accommodation, a 250-seat lecture theatre and a large landscaped central courtyard have all created a campus that is well-resourced and well-designed. The campus is home to the Deakin University Art Gallery and the Deakin Motion.Lab, a state-of-the-art motion capture facility that produces 3D animation and special effects, similar to those used in films such as Avatar and The Lord of the Rings.

GEELONG WAURN PONDS CAMPUS

Deakin's Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus is located 8 km from the centre of the historic port city of Geelong, which is 72 km south-west of Melbourne. Geelong is Victoria's largest regional city with a population close to 225 000.

Set among extensive landscaped grounds, the Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus boasts hectares of native trees, grassy lawns, lakes and avenues. There are many specialist facilities at this campus, including an outstandingly resourced library, audiovisual production studios, research laboratories and an extensive computer centre. Also located at the Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus is the Geelong Technology Precinct, which provides research and development capabilities and opportunities for university–industry partnerships and new enterprises in the region, as well as the Waurin Ponds Estate, which provides first-class conference and convention facilities. The Deakin School of Medicine is located in a purpose-designed building. The medical precinct at this campus will be significantly upgraded in 2016 with the opening of the Epworth HealthCare private hospital.

GEELONG WATERFRONT CAMPUS

The Geelong Waterfront Campus is Deakin's newest campus, located on the beautiful foreshore of Corio Bay in the central business district of Geelong. Originally built in 1893, the historic woolstore building has undergone extensive redevelopment to create a modern and impressive campus centre.

The centrepiece of the campus is Costa Hall, a concert hall of international standard, where a number of university ceremonies, cultural performances and community functions take place, including Deakin's graduation ceremonies.

Also located at this campus is the refurbished Sally Walker Building, which houses the Alfred Deakin Prime Ministerial Library and the Alfred Deakin Research Institute. The Alfred Deakin Research Institute is an interdisciplinary teaching and research centre covering political science, public policy and governance, international relations, globalisation, journalism and communications.

WARRNAMBOOL CAMPUS

Warrnambool is the commercial, cultural and educational heart of south-west Victoria. A premier tourist destination, it boasts stunning coastlines, renowned surf beaches and is the state's foremost site for whale watching.

Located 262 km (a three-hour drive) from Melbourne, the campus is set on 114 sprawling hectares on the banks of the picturesque Hopkins River. Our lecturers, students and staff at the Warrnambool Campus form a real community, where communication is open and informal.

Campus facilities include a comprehensive library, excellent teaching and learning spaces, a cafe, gymnasium, bookshop and golf course. Located just 5 km from the centre of Warrnambool, the campus ensures that Deakin contributes to the vitality of the local community in the tradition of many university cities.

INSTITUTE OF KOORIE EDUCATION

Deakin University is proud to have the largest number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students of any Victorian university.

The Institute of Koorie Education commenced in 1991 and offers programs that are structured around off-campus community-based delivery, supported by on-campus intensive study blocks and complemented by local tutors at regional study centres.

This approach to course delivery promotes access and equity for Indigenous Australian students. Students from all areas of the country – rural, remote and metropolitan and across all age ranges, particularly mature age – are able to undertake studies without compromising their family and community obligations.

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Investigations into 1,2,3-Triazoles for Use in Medicinal Chemistry.'

Summary

This project focused on the synthesis of a range 1,4-disubstituted-1,2,3-triazoles with the applications to the treatment of both prostate cancer and tuberculosis. A variety of compounds were synthesised in excellent yield and purity, with many showing excellent levels of biological activity.

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Factors Influencing Foraging Behaviour in the Australasian Gannet.'

Summary

This research examined extrinsic and intrinsic factors influencing the foraging behaviour of a large seabird, the Australasian Gannet, at two colonies along the Victorian coastline. Given the rapid warming of south-eastern Australian waters, this research highlights potential drivers of variability and limitations for the species survival.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor John Arnould

Michelle Bassett

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Wildfire, Mammals and their Habitats in a Fire-prone Forest Ecosystem.'

Summary

This research examined how mammals responded to the 2009 Black Saturday wildfire. Two years post-fire, the research found that mammal species were distributed across the wildfire area and were not relying on unburnt refuges or gullies for survival. Variation in fire severity did influence several species, which provides valuable insights for management.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Euan Ritchie

Md Mahedi Hasan Bhuiyan

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Boron Nitride Nanotube Reinforced Titanium Matrix Composite.'

Summary

Boron nitride nanotube reinforcement at titanium matrix composite increased the strength of the composite both at room and high temperature. At higher sintering temperature, nanotube reacts with titanium first forming TiB₂ transition phase at the interface and then in-situ formed TiB phases in the matrix, which is also responsible for enhanced mechanical properties.

Avinesh Reddy ByreddyWhose thesis was entitled:

'Downstream Processing of Lipids and Lipases from Thraustochytrids.'

Summary

Thraustochytrids are a group of marine microbes well known for the production of omega-3 fatty acids and other bioactive compounds. The purpose of this research project was to develop downstream processing methods to extract lipids and lipases from thraustochytrids and understanding their suitability in the production of biofuels and nutraceuticals.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Lingxue Kong

Evelyn Kylie ChiaWhose thesis was entitled:

'Wildfire, Landscape Heterogeneity and Fauna in Fire-Prone Forests.'

Summary

Wildfire severity is an important driver on the occurrence of forest fauna 2–3 years post-fire, by its influence on the suitability of forest habitat in South-Eastern Australia. Unexpectedly, landscape heterogeneity generated by fire had limited effects on most species, probably because animals were responding to the rapid regeneration of vegetation.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Euan Ritchie

Pathum Ravinath DhanapalaWhose thesis was entitled:

'Production and Characterisation of Hypoallergenic Chicken Eggs.'

Summary

This project aimed to develop novel therapeutics and methods to tackle egg allergy. In this study, recombinant variants of egg allergens were produced that may be used in future immunotherapy. Genetic engineering was also used to develop new strategies to produce non-allergenic chicken eggs.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Cenk Suphioglu

Kasun Bandara EkanayakeWhose thesis was entitled:

'Little Raven (Corvus Mellori) as an Egg Predator of other Bird Species.'

Summary

Little Ravens were major predators of ground-nesting Red-Capped Plover and burrow-nesting Little Penguin eggs. Ravens also congregated at the breeding sites of these two species to exploit eggs. As Raven numbers increase with human habitation of land, their impact on other bird species needs to be monitored and managed.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Mike Weston

Chunfang FengWhose thesis was entitled:

'Stretchable Graphene-based Materials of High Conductivity.'

Summary

The application of graphene based materials in the area of stretchable electronics has driven enormous attention, especially in terms of the design of stretchable structures. This thesis has finely tuned the synthesis process of reduced graphene oxide (rGO), focused on the introduction of a thermo-mechanical shrinking process to fabricate wrinkled rGO structure as stretchable conductors and finally presented another potential application of wrinkled rGO structure.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Fred Pfeffer

Parisa IzadpanahiWhose thesis was entitled:

'Green and not Heard: The Relationship between Sustainably Designed Primary Schools and Children's Environmental Attitudes and Behaviours.'

Summary

This study addressed the possibility that the physical learning spaces of sustainably designed schools can act as pedagogic tools that influence children's environmental attitudes and behaviours. The results suggest that sustainable school design informs a meaningful understanding in children of the symbiotic relationship between the built environment and the wider ecological context.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Richard Tucker

Yee Siong LeeWhose thesis was entitled:

'Detection and Analysis of Human Respiration using Microwave Doppler Radar.'

Summary

Non-contact detection characteristic of doppler radar provides an unobtrusive means of respiration detection and monitoring. This avoids additional preparations such as physical sensor attachment or special clothing. Furthermore, robustness of doppler radar against environmental factors reduce environmental constraints and strengthens the possibility of employing doppler radar as a practical biomedical devices in the future, particularly in long term monitoring applications such as in-sleep studies.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Pubudu Pathirana

Wei Yin LeongWhose thesis was entitled:

'Functional State Observers Design for Interconnected Time-delay Systems.'

This research contributes to the field of functional state estimation for interconnected time-delay systems. Through progressive improvements and refinements, these developed observer structures have practical application for industry and more widely in the engineering field.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Hieu Trinh

Quanxiang LiWhose thesis was entitled:

'Hierarchical Composites from Carbon Fibres Electrospayed with Carbon Nanotubes.'

Summary

This research developed a novel method for coating carbon nanotubes onto carbon fibre surfaces. It provided valuable guidance for producing various CNT morphologies on fibre surfaces. More importantly, the produced hybrid structures improved interfacial bonding in composites significantly, and this research will explore more potential applications of new generation composites.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Bronwyn Fox

Saiyi LiWhose thesis was entitled:

'Assessment of Human Kinematic Performance with Non-contact Measurements for Tele-rehabilitation.'

Summary

Aging of the population is challenging the traditional rehabilitation services for various movement disorders. In the foreseeable future, tele-rehabilitation will be a contributive factor for the well-being of the older generation. AWARD OF HONORARY DEGREE

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws will be conferred upon Ms Dalal Smiley for distinguished service to the Australian community, especially to social inclusion and cultural diversity.

MS DALAL SMILEY

The Occasional Address will be delivered by Ms Dalal Smiley, Chief Operations Officer at the Australian Muslim Women Centre for Human Rights.

Dalal Smiley migrated to Australia in 1976 with her mother and brother, fleeing the Lebanese Civil War and settling in Melbourne.

Ms Smiley began her career in language services working within the migrant services sector. She realised that communication was essential to the settlement process for migrants and one of her earliest achievements was the establishment of a multi-award winning Multilingual Communications Service at the City of Darebin in 2000.

In 1998 Ms Smiley was elected as Chair of the Victorian Arabic Network, a position she held until 2005. During this time Ms Smiley transformed the Victorian Arabic Network in to the Victorian Arabic Social Services (VASS). It was the first Arabic-dedicated multi-disciplinary service agency and continues to operate today. In 2001, Ms Smiley was also appointed as Commissioner of the Victorian Multicultural Commission by the then Premier of Victoria, The Hon. Steve Bracks. She served on the Commission until 2005.

In 2010 Ms Smiley was awarded an Emergency Services Foundation scholarship to conduct research in the United Kingdom on how their emergency services managed to increase diversity within their workforces.

In a career that spans over 35 years, Ms Smiley has consistently worked on increasing access and equity for migrants and refugees to mainstream services and to achieve full participation in Australian society. She has worked in federal, state and local government positions as well as in the community sector. Her work on a number of projects over the years has been recognised by eighteen different awards.

Ms Smiley holds a Bachelor of Arts in Community Development and a Master in Public Policy and Governance from Deakin University.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Susan Bennett

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Gender Relations in Elite Coeducational Schools.'

Summary

Gender relations in elite coeducational schools have long been regarded as 'risky' environments for girls. This ethnographic study of three elite coeducational schools in Melbourne, Australia found that while gender relations continued to be complex, girls and boys worked together as colleagues and friends and the traditional gender hierarchies were disrupted at many points.

Principal Supervisor:

Alfred Deakin Professor Jillian Blackmore

Dianne Gibson

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Teachers' Aides Training and Professional Learning in Mainstream Secondary Schools.'

Summary

The research investigated the training and professional learning needs of teachers' aides supporting students with disabilities in mainstream secondary schools in Victoria, Australia. Using survey and focus group methods, the analysis showed that teachers' aides perceived they had participated in training and professional learning to effectively perform work-related items and student-related tasks.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Louise Paatsch

Laura Gurney

Whose thesis was entitled:

'EAP Teachers' Conceptions of and Interactions with Professional Development: A Phenomenographic Investigation.'

Summary

This research explores the conceptions of professional development held by a group of teachers of English for Academic Purposes (EAP), the influence of their conceptions on their interaction with professional development activities and the learning outcomes resulting from this interaction.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Indika Liyanage

Jarjani

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Complexities of Active Learning Implementation in Higher Education in Aceh: Beliefs and Cultures.'

Summary

This research explores the discourses embedded in the beliefs the teacher educators hold and practices of active learning in higher education in Aceh, Indonesia.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Mary Dixon

Patricia Rose LucasWhose thesis was entitled:

'Exploring Critical Reflection in Cooperative Education: A Case Study.'

Summary

This research identifies the challenges facing students who are learning how to critically reflect while learning through reflection. Factors enabling one student's development of critical reflection may constrain another. These influencing factors are found within the learning environment, workplace and personal experiences, students' attitudes and critical reflection processes.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Louise Paatsch

Kathy Ann SwinkelsWhose thesis was entitled:

'Mathematically-rich Interactions in Early Childhood Centres.'

Summary

This study investigated childrens' engagement in mathematically-rich interactions in early childhood centres. While mathematically-rich interactions were found to be occurring with regular frequency, educators sometimes had difficulty identifying mathematical concepts in their planning. These findings may be used to inform the content of pre and in service early childhood education courses.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Susie Groves

Gregg Edward WeaverWhose thesis was entitled:

'Principalship as Negotiated Practice: A Bourdieuan Analysis.'

Summary

Using a Bourdieuan social analysis, the thesis explores the interplay of personal identity formation and system demands captured in the powerful narratives of experienced principals. Astute strategists, they are employing agentic actions centred on learning, democratic practice and social equity that are countering the prevailing logics of the education field.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Martin Patrick Hardie

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Whereabouts are We?'

Summary

Through a study of the global anti-doping apparatus and professional cycling, this thesis concerns how law and governance is changing in the global context and how these changes are inherent to broader processes associated with neoliberalism and affecting all aspects of society.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Roland Kapferer

Kate Neely

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Developing a Systems Understanding of Rural Water Supply in Timor-Leste.'

Summary

Systems thinking techniques help to explain the lack of robustness of rural water systems in Timor-Leste. Development drivers currently promote increasing coverage of water programs with little concern for ongoing functionality. Investing in increased community participation, and promoting community and individual decision making would improve the robustness of these systems.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Evelyn Zacharewicz

Whose thesis was entitled:

'The Role of MicroRNAs in Regulating Muscle Protein Synthesis.'

Summary

The focus of the thesis was to improve the current body of knowledge in the area of age-related muscle wasting. Two new molecules that are potentially important in the maintenance of skeletal muscle mass were identified. These regulators may one day serve as therapeutic targets for age-related muscle wasting.

ALFRED DEAKIN PROFESSOR MARI BOTTI AM

The Occasional Address will be delivered by Alfred Deakin Professor Mari Botti AM, Chair in Nursing in Deakin's School of Nursing and Midwifery.

Professor Mari Botti's current position is a joint appointment between Deakin University and Epworth Healthcare, a position she has held since 2004. In this role, Professor Botti heads the Epworth-Deakin Centre for Clinical Nursing Research. The Centre is committed to supporting innovative practice developments, improving patient outcomes and facilitating professional development of clinical and academic staff. Professor Botti has contributed extensively to the strategic direction of nursing research at Deakin University that is consistent with local, national and international priorities and has led the implementation of successful health industry and academic partnerships in nursing research over the last two decades.

Professor Botti joined Deakin University in 1997. She has held academic appointments since 1987 and for many years she combined clinical practice in acute cardiac nursing, nursing education and clinical research. Professor Botti's specific research and clinical interests are in postoperative pain management, the investigation of models of care delivery that encourage patient and family engagement in their care, safety and wellbeing, and the use of clinical data to improve quality and safety in healthcare.

In service to the profession and the community, Professor Botti was for many years a member of the Victorian Quality Council, Deputy Chair of the Health and Social Sciences Committee of the Alfred Health Human Research and Ethics Committee (HREC) and the recent Chair of the Deakin University HREC. She is currently Deputy Chair of the Epworth HealthCare HREC.

In 2012, the Deakin University Council conferred the title of Alfred Deakin Professor upon Professor Botti in recognition of her outstanding, sustained high-level contribution to furthering the aims of Deakin University in relation to research.

In 2016, Professor Botti was recognised as a Member of the Order of Australia for her significant service to nursing, and to medical education, as an academic and author, and to pain management research.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Mairi Siobhan Benson

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Evaluation of a Comprehensive Interactive Training System for Investigative Interviewers of Children.'

Summary

This thesis focused on evaluating a new, innovative, interactive online training program for investigative interviewers of child victims. The results were overwhelmingly positive, showing that online training can be implemented in large organisations, and improve trainees' practical interviewing skills and knowledge.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Martine Powell

Christopher Roy Brandner

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Resistance Exercise with Blood Flow Restriction: An Examination of the Acute and Chronic Neuromuscular, Haemodynamic, and Perceptual Responses.'

Summary

This thesis provides evidence of central nervous system adaptations as well as reduced exercising haemodynamics and perceptual responses when light-load resistance exercise/training is performed with blood flow restriction. In addition, this type of training appears beneficial in order to target gains in strength and muscle mass in healthy young populations.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Stuart Warmington

Ian Fuelscher

Whose thesis was entitled:

'The Role of Internal Action Representations in Motor Development.'

Summary

This research suggests that internal 'neural' action representations may subserve the development of important motor functions and, where impaired or delayed, may be associated with a typical function. This knowledge provides critical validation of current motor control theories and is central to our understanding of the neuro-cognitive basis of motor development.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Christian Hyde

Alicia Marie Goodwill

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Transcranial Direct-Current Stimulation and Functional Training: A Novel Neurorehabilitation Technique.'

Summary

This thesis provides preliminary evidence as to the advantageous application of combined motor training and non-invasive brain stimulation on movement and brain plasticity in older adults and chronic stroke patients. The findings from this thesis have clinical implications for improving activities of daily living in these populations.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Robin Daly

Gemma Caddy Christie HamiltonWhose thesis was entitled:

'Improving Investigative Interviews with Aboriginal Children.'

Summary

This thesis focused on improving investigative interview protocols with Australian Aboriginal children, predominantly in cases of abuse. Current investigative interviewing procedures were evaluated and a revised interview protocol tailored to Aboriginal children was created.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Martine Powell

Rivkeh Yasmin HaryonoWhose thesis was entitled:

'The Role of Environmental and Genetic Influences on Fatty Acid Taste Sensitivity.'

Summary

The studies conducted in this thesis add to the growing body of literature supporting the existence of fatty acid taste. Data contributes to the novel, yet mounting research for a functional role of fat taste in food intake regulation, which may have important implications for overweight and obesity.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Russell Keast

Brianna Lee LarsenWhose thesis was entitled:

'Simulated Self-Paced Wildfire Suppression Work in Different Thermal Conditions.'

Summary

This thesis provides evidence that wildland firefighters can sustain their work output under hot conditions (33°C), even over multiple days. However, when faced with very hot ambient environments (45°C), work performance suffers and firefighters experience a potentially dangerous thermal response.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Brad Aisbett

Karen LimWhose thesis was entitled:

'Iron and Zinc Nutrition among Premenopausal Women.'

Summary

Premenopausal women are at increased risk of iron deficiency and this thesis indicated Australian women may also be at risk of zinc deficiency. There is a strong need to assess zinc status in the Australian population. Unlike other food sources of iron and zinc, meat consumption positively influenced iron and zinc status.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Lynn Riddell

Charne Nicole MillerWhose thesis was entitled:

'A Longitudinal Study of Older Couples Coping with Chronic Conditions.'

Summary

This study involved a longitudinal investigation of how older couples cope with chronic illness. The study found that one person's chronic illness affects the wellbeing of both members of the couple. Ensuring that both members of the couple are supported when a chronic illness is experienced is important to optimise the psychological health of this vulnerable cohort of Australians.

Principal Supervisor:

Mr Gery Karantzas

Sofia RallisWhose thesis was entitled:

'Psychological Distress Across Pregnancy and Postpartum: A Prospective Study.'

Summary

This thesis focused on exploring women's experiences pre and post birth using a longitudinal design. A comprehensive trajectory of distress levels was attained by assessing symptoms of depression, anxiety and stress and the unique role of coping and cognitive appraisal strategies were also investigated.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Helen Skouteris

Anna SawWhose thesis was entitled:

'Self-Report Measures in Athletic Preparation.'

Summary

This thesis provides theoretical and applied support for the use of self-report measures for athlete monitoring. Athlete self-report measures were found to effectively reflect the training response, whilst also providing a means to improve communication, confidence and regulation of athletic preparation. Context-specific guidelines for implementation were also identified.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Paul Gastin

Adam James WalkerWhose thesis was entitled:

'Stress, Dopamine, Inflammation and Energy Regulation: Examining the Nature of Antidepressant-Resistance and Response.'

Summary

This thesis investigated the nature of treatment-resistant depression and novel antidepressants utilising a preclinical model of antidepressant-resistance. Chronic disruption of the stress response impaired response to antidepressants and altered dopamine signalling in this model. Inflammatory profile and energy regulation were identified as potential biomarkers for response to ketamine and lithium.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Jane McGillivray

Alexander Powell WolkowWhose thesis was entitled:

'Sleep Restriction Across a Simulated Firefighting Deployment: The Impact on Acute Stress Responses.'

Summary

This research demonstrated how exposure to physical work and restricted sleep can trigger an increase in firefighters' immune and hormonal stress responses. The work also explored psychophysiological interactions between responses, with findings that suggest when sleep was restricted, firefighters show a worsening in mood which relates to elevated hormonal and immune changes.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Luana Main

Daniel William WundersitzWhose thesis was entitled:

'Accelerometer Validity to Measure and Classify Movement in Team Sports.'

Summary

In team sports accelerometers are used to monitor the physical demands of athletic performance. This research showed that accelerometer accuracy can be improved through filtering and also showed that the accelerometer can be used to automatically classify the type of movement performed, further improving the understanding of team sports.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Paul Gastin

Eva Yee-Nga YuenWhose thesis was entitled:

'Development of a Measure of Health Literacy for Caregivers of People with Cancer.'

Summary

Caregivers play a key role in supporting people with cancer. Little is known about challenges that caregivers might have when finding and understanding health information, making health-related decisions and navigating the healthcare system. Using an innovative mixed-methods approach, the study developed and evaluated a tool to measure cancer caregiver health literacy.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Tess Knight

DOCTOR OF PSYCHOLOGY (CLINICAL)Katherine Victoria Birt*Whose thesis was entitled:

'Adult Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) and Intimate Relationships.'

Summary

This thesis investigated adult ASD and intimate relationships through online questionnaires. Social deficits predicted poor relationship development in adults with ASD. Typical development (TD) partners within an ASD/TD dyad experienced poorest relationship outcome relative to controls and ASD partners. Last, ASD did not negatively impact relationship outcome in ASD/TD dyads.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Mark Stokes

Rhian CoramWhose thesis was entitled:

'Effects of Preconception Disordered Eating on Next Generation Birth Outcomes.'

Summary

This thesis aimed to examine the effects of adolescent disordered eating on next generation birth outcomes. The major finding of this thesis was a small but significantly increased risk of small-for-gestational-age births to women reporting disordered eating behaviours in adolescence. Furthermore, findings from this thesis revealed intergenerational patterns of low birth weight births from mother to offspring. These findings provide support for recommendations of a lifespan approach to reproductive care.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Jacqui Macdonald

Karyn Therese HartWhose thesis was entitled:

'The Influence of Maternal Mental Health, Attachment and Hormonal Factors on a Mother's Attachment to her Fetus During Pregnancy.'

Summary

The thesis investigated the role of maternal mental health, maternal attachment and hormones in the development of maternal-fetal attachment during pregnancy. The study found that oxytocin and cortisol were associated with maternal-fetal attachment throughout pregnancy. The study also found that maternal mental health, particularly anxiety, stress and depression during the prenatal period impacted on the development of maternal-fetal attachment across pregnancy. The findings have clinical and research implications with regard to early intervention for attachment and maternal well-being.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Andrew Lewis

Natalie Emma PillWhose thesis was entitled:

'An Investigation of Trauma Responses to Intimate Partner Violence.'

Summary

This research identified a high prevalence of post-traumatic stress and complex trauma symptoms among victims of intimate partner violence; trauma symptoms may result from even moderate levels of violence. Exploration of the relationship between trauma symptoms and risk suggests that specific mental health treatment is indicated for this population.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Andrew Day

Alicia Marie TompsonWhose thesis was entitled:

'Epigenetic Predictors of Psychotic Symptoms in Adolescence.'

Summary

This thesis focused on the role of epigenetic processes in the development of psychotic symptoms during adolescence. The findings suggest that exposure to influenza and/or diabetes/glycosuria during gestation may predispose an individual to the later development of psychotic symptoms via altered expression of specific genes involved in early brain development.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Andrew Lewis

DOCTOR OF PSYCHOLOGY (FORENSIC)

Chelsea LeachWhose thesis was entitled:

'The Effect of Complainant Age on Outcomes in the Criminal Justice System: Case Tracking from Report to Conviction.'

Summary

The thesis explored child sexual abuse in the criminal justice system and how victim age predicted case outcomes, including disclosures, charges and convictions. The findings highlighted that adolescent victims may experience unique challenges. Further, the relationships between victim age, case characteristics and evidence are crucial to explaining case outcomes.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Martine Powell

Suzanne Amanda VidlerWhose thesis was entitled:

'Exploring the Role and Patterns of Developmental Trauma in Substance Using Offenders.'

Summary

The thesis explored the relationship between developmental trauma, substance use and offending behaviour. While a lack of sufficient power did not allow patterns and trajectories to emerge, it was demonstrated that developmental trauma was experienced disproportionately more in offender and substance using populations. Further, the study proposed the utility of the Good Lives Model in developing holistic treatment plans that encompass primary goods identified by these individuals.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Tess Knight

DOCTOR OF PSYCHOLOGY (HEALTH)

Free BentonWhose thesis was entitled:

'Maternal Depression, Anxiety, Body Dissatisfaction and Self-Esteem: Do They Increase the Risk of Pre-Schooler Obesity?'

Summary

This research examined the relationship between maternal depression, anxiety, body dissatisfaction and self-esteem, child feeding practices and obesity risk in pre-schoolers. A systematic review revealed moderate associations between maternal depression and pre-schooler obesity risk, and a possible link between both maternal anxiety and body dissatisfaction and pre-schooler obesity risk. The empirical studies however, did not support a link between any of the measures of psychosocial health and pre-schooler obesity risk.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Helen Skouteris

Michaela Elizabeth HallWhose thesis was entitled:

'A Critical Analysis of Screening for Skin Cancer: Participation among Older Males.'

Summary

This thesis was a critical examination of participation in skin cancer screening for men over the age of 50 years. This research explored subjective experiences of skin cancer screening, participation in the process, perceptions of skin cancer and factors that influence men's willingness to undergo skin cancer screening.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Janine McGuinness

Adrian SchulzWhose thesis was entitled:

'Fatherhood and Psychological Distress: Paternal Depression, Anxiety and Stress in the Perinatal Period.'

Summary

Many fathers experience depression during their partner's pregnancy and following the birth of their child. This thesis found paternal perinatal depression symptoms peaked between three and six months after birth. Depression was associated with increased anxiety and stress symptoms, and lower levels of relationship adjustment, sleep quality and social support.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Helen Skouteris

MASTER DEGREESMASTER OF APPLIED SCIENCE
BY RESEARCH*Fatin Nadzirah Nazari*Whose thesis was entitled:

'The Effectiveness of Outcome Measures for Malaysian Children with Down Syndrome.'

Summary

This study found that the assessments used were reliable and acceptable culturally for Malaysian children with Down Syndrome, with some changes on 'Parent Strengths and Difficulties Questionnaire'. To identify specific difficulties with motor movement, level of involvement in the learning process and socio-emotional wellbeing, the use of accurate assessment tools were crucial among health care teams, especially Occupational Therapists in Malaysia.

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Computational Intelligence-based Traffic Signal Timing Optimization.'

Summary

Traffic congestion has explicit effects on productivity and efficiency, as well as side effects on environmental sustainability and health. Controlling traffic flows at intersections is recognized as a beneficial technique to decrease daily travel times. This thesis applies computational intelligence to optimize traffic signals' timing and reduce urban traffic.

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Human Perception-based Washout Filtering.'

Summary

Through this research we have developed a new Motion Cueing Algorithm (MCA) based on Genetic Algorithm. This method accurately produces translational and rotational motions in a simulator platform with high fidelity and within the simulator's physical limitations. The results show the superiority of the proposed MCA compared with previous methods.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Shady Mohamed

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Incident Delirium in the Acute General Medical Setting.'

Summary

Delirium is a serious neuro-cognitive disorder that affects many people admitted to hospital. Results of this research have contributed valuable knowledge regarding the risk factors, health outcomes and management of medical patients who developed incident delirium during hospitalisation.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Alison Hutchinson

Maryam Delavari

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Migration and Obesity, Case of Iranian Migrants in Victoria, Australia.'

Summary

This thesis provided valuable data to better understand how migration relates to obesity trends. The research expanded the concepts and models of the impact of migration and acculturation on obesity by testing them in a population of Iranian immigrants to Australia.

MS TRACEY GAUDRY

The Occasional Address will be delivered by Tracey Gaudry, Senior Executive, Non-Executive Director, former world-class athlete and dual Olympian.

Tracey Gaudry's determination and commitment to achieve success in sport has carried over to her professional career in management and governance roles spanning local, state, national and international enterprises.

Ms Gaudry is Vice President of the world governing body for the sport of cycling, the Union Cycliste Internationale (UCI). She carries multiple portfolios including Chairmanship of the Women's Commission, Advocacy Commission and Mass Participation Commission and is a member of the International Development Commission. She is also President of the Oceania Cycling Confederation, one of five continental confederations worldwide.

Ms Gaudry is the first and only woman in the 116 year history of the UCI to have been elected outright to the Board. Concurrently she is also the General Manager for Athletics Australia, leading its Commercial and Growth Division, and is a member of the Advisory Council to the recently formed Sports Environment Alliance. Prior to her roles at the highest echelon in sports administration, Ms Gaudry worked as a Senior Executive with professional services firms including Ernst & Young, DLA Piper and Jacobs International.

Ms Gaudry holds a Master in Management (National Graduate School of Management), cementing a solid management and governance frame of reference to support her extensive knowledge, skills and experience and complementing her Bachelor Degrees in Science and Commerce from Deakin University.

Ms Gaudry enjoyed a highly successful sporting career as a road cyclist, ranked 3rd in the World at her peak, winning multiple National Championships and World Cups, and competing at the 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games, the 1998 Kuala Lumpur Commonwealth Games and the 2000 Sydney Olympic Games.

Behind Ms Gaudry's exceptional story is one of sheer determination. Diagnosed with Acute Lymphatic Leukaemia at the age of 20 with a survival prognosis of only 10%, she endured a two-year daily debilitating chemotherapy regime while finishing her studies. After achieving remission and as a means to regaining her health and fitness, Ms Gaudry took up cycling while embarking upon her working career and was instantly hooked by the mental and physical challenge of the sport of road cycling.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Daniel Fraher

Whose thesis was entitled:

‘Chemical Modulators of Lipid Abundance and Bone Development.’

Summary

This study aimed to establish novel therapeutics for obesity. In this endeavour, a comprehensive profile of lipid abundances during vertebrate development was established. Furthermore, the endocannabinoid system and retinoic acid signaling pathway were shown to modulate lipid levels, which may therefore provide pharmaceutical targets for treating obesity.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Yann Gibert

Samaneh Ghasemi Fard

Whose thesis was entitled:

‘Bioavailability of Long Chain Omega-3 Polyunsaturated Fatty Acids.’

Summary

It has been well documented that the ingestion of omega-3 polyunsaturated fatty acids (n-3 LC-PUFA) can improve health. However, little scientific attention has been paid on the actual bioavailability of n-3 LC-PUFA. In this thesis, several nutritional questions related to bioavailability of n-3 LC-PUFA have been answered by animal model.

Principal Supervisors:

Professor Andrew Sinclair

Associate Professor Paul Lewandowski

Shae Elise Quirk

Whose thesis was entitled:

‘Personality Disorders in the Community.’

Summary

This project describes the epidemiology of personality disorders in an Australian population based-sample of women and from a nationally, representative sample of the United States population. This project examined the prevalence of personality disorders and their association with physical and mental health disorders and health service utilization.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Lana Williams

Sugeetha Ramakrishnan

Whose thesis was entitled:

‘The Relationship between Milk, Mammary Adipocytes and ECM in Regulating Murine Mammary Gland Involution.’

Summary

This thesis investigated the role of milk, extracellular matrix and mammary adipocytes in regulating mammary gland function during involution in mice and explored the use of an in vitro culture model, the mammosphere model system to study the same.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Ken Walder

Narinderbir SinghWhose thesis was entitled:

'Targeting Survivin and Molecular Regulation of De-Differentiated Grade IV Astrocytoma (Glioblastoma).'

Summary

The study unprecedently provided evidence about the molecular understanding of a dedifferentiation phenotype of glioblastoma-a highly aggressive brain tumour within 12–15 months of patient survival after diagnosis. Further, the efficacies of survivin targeting molecules SurR9-C84A and a natural non-toxic protein bovine lactoferrin as a safe bio-drug to target glioblastoma were evaluated.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Rupinder Kanwar

Monique TrengoveWhose thesis was entitled:

'Suppressor of Cytokine Signaling 4 and 5 in Zebrafish Development.'

Summary

This research provides insight into the evolution and function of zebrafish cell signaling proteins, Suppressor of Cytokine Signaling 4a, 4b and 5a. These signaling proteins were found to play essential roles during early and late stages of embryonic development, with specific roles in sensory processing and immune cell development.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Alister Ward

Alyssa Karin Van DreumelWhose thesis was entitled:

'Design and Development of Superior Pan-Serodiagnostics for Foot-and-mouth Disease.'

Summary

A novel consensus approach to biological reagent design was developed to establish a test for detection of infection of livestock animals with foot-and-mouth disease virus in a type-independent manner. This test has potential as a readily available diagnostic suitable for use in the global control of this disease

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor John Stambas

MASTERS DEGREES

MASTER OF APPLIED SCIENCE BY RESEARCH

Shu Fen Wong

Whose thesis was entitled:

‘Discrete Choice Experiment Examining the Preferences of People with Cancer.’

Summary

The study suggests that patient-centred health care models should focus on improving patient access to health care, supporting the role of carers and non-oncology health care providers as well as providing education about health care resources.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor David Ashley

Simon John Moule

Whose thesis was entitled:

‘The Role of an External Focus of Attention on Lower Limb Landing Patterns.’

Summary

The research investigated the efficacy of instructional methods on lower limb landing postures. The findings provided insight into the role of instructional methods that manipulate the focus of attention and the retention of motor learning, in the context of an ACL injury prevention program in an applied community based setting.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Ghassan Abass

Whose thesis was entitled:

'The Antecedents of Health Professionals' Service Recovery Performance.'

Summary

The aim of this thesis is to identify the antecedents to the self-perceived recovery performance of health professionals in Qatar. The quantitative phase of the thesis utilised a survey instrument, which was developed and modified as a result of consultations with experts and piloting. A total of 343 questionnaires were completed and returned by respondents. After determining the adequacy of the congeneric models and the overall measurement model using confirmatory factor analysis (CFA), structural analysis was undertaken to determine the fit of the data to the hypothesised associations between the latent constructs of interest.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Lisa McQuilken

Georgina May Caillard

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Organisational Learning in Legal Firms: A Practice Based Approach.'

Summary

Utilising the frame of communities of practice, this case study of a mid-tier legal firm revealed a tendency for newcomers to reproduce the knowledge of their supervisors. However, new knowledge was introduced frequently without disturbing power structures resulting in highly traditional organisations that also dealt easily with change and novelty.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Ambika Zutshi

Zaheed Ibne Halim

Whose thesis was entitled:

'The Impact of Supply Chain Complexity on Operational Performance.'

Summary

Drawn on the system complexity literature, this study investigated how supply chain complexity impacts firm's operational performance and what role supply chain orientation plays in complexity performance relationship. The study provided empirical evidence for the argument that dynamic complexity as opposed to structural complexity is more difficult for firms to effectively accommodate.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Stuart Orr

Rashad Hasanov

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Essays on Financial Crises.'

Summary

The thesis focuses on political and institutional aspects of financial crises. The first two chapters study the impact of political regime type and government popularity on the probability of experiencing financial crises. The third chapter evaluates the effectiveness of fiscal stimulus at times of economic recessions and crises. Overall, the thesis concludes that political and institutional factors are as important in explaining crises as the economic variables.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Prasad Bhattacharya

Sutharson KanapathippillaiWhose thesis was entitled:

'Director Remuneration and Narrative Disclosure of Remuneration Changes: Remuneration Committee Effects.'

Summary

This thesis investigates the impact of remuneration committees on CEO remuneration, the narrative voluntary disclosure of remuneration information and its attribution. Results show the existence and quality of a remuneration committee play important roles in relation to CEO remuneration and in relation to remuneration narrative disclosures and attribution.

MR PAUL RONALDS

The Occasional Address will be delivered by Mr Paul Ronalds, Chief Executive Officer of Save the Children.

Save the Children works in every state of Australia and in more than 120 countries around the world on children's education, health and protection issues.

Mr Ronalds is also currently a Non-Executive Director of the Centre for Social Impact and the Community Council of Australia.

Prior to joining Save the Children, Mr Ronalds was First Assistant Secretary responsible for the Office of Work and Family in the Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet. In this role, he provided advice to the Prime Minister on a broad range of social and economic policies designed to assist families and communities.

Mr Ronalds has worked as Deputy CEO of World Vision and as Chief Operating Officer of Urban Seed, an innovative and dynamic NGO that provides a range of services to marginalised people in Melbourne's inner city.

Mr Ronalds started his career as a corporate lawyer with international law firm Herbert Smith Freehills before co-founding wishlist.com.au, one of Australia's most successful e-commerce companies. As a young man, he spent time as a drover, moving cattle through the long paddocks of southern New South Wales.

Mr Ronalds is a graduate of the St James Ethics Centre's Vincent Fairfax Fellowship in Ethics and Leadership and has degrees in Economics and Law with Honours from Monash University, a Graduate Diploma in Applied Finance and a Master in International Relations from Deakin University.

He is the author of 'The Change Imperative: Creating a Next Generation NGO', a book that examines the organisational challenges faced by international NGOs in a rapidly evolving global political context.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Lorinda Jane Cramer

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Needlework and Genteel Identity in Gold-Rush Victoria.'

Summary

This research explores the ways in which different kinds of sewing were deployed in shifting expressions of the feminine and concludes that needlework held a critical place for those who adapted to the dislocations and challenges of living in the colony.

Principal Supervisor:

Dr Linda Young

Snezhana Djambazova-Popordanoska

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Teachers' Perspectives and Practices on Social and Emotional Learning: Multiple Case Study Approach.'

Summary

This thesis has explored how preparatory teachers in two Victorian primary schools understand and implement Social and Emotional Learning in their classrooms. The findings of this research indicated that the participating teachers paid more attention to children's social skills rather than to their emotional skills. Another important finding was that Social and Emotional Learning has a very limited place within the policies and the curricula of the participating schools.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Matthew Clarke

Elisabeth Effeney

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Democratically Grounded Cosmopolitanism: Iraqi Refugees in Australia Since 2003.'

Summary

This study explored the socio-political attitudes and behaviours of a sample group of Iraqi refugees who were given protection in Australia after 2003. It was found that this group are disconnected and at times alienated by the socio-political sphere in Australia.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Fethi Mansouri

Tristan John Galloway

Whose thesis was entitled:

'China and Technical Global Internet Governance: From Norm-taker to Norm-maker.'

Summary

This dissertation examines Chinese engagement with core norms structuring technical global internet governance. It finds that China has been a norm-taker globally, but more of a norm-maker both regionally and domestically. Beijing seeks to restrict US government and non-state actor authority, but cannot due to limited support and power constraints.

Principal supervisor:

Professor Baogang He

Kathryn Mary KeebleWhose thesis was entitled:

'Lord of the Ring: Redressing the 'White Oliphant''

Summary

The doctoral work is divided into two parts: an exegesis dealing analytically with the idea of writing nonfiction works about scientists and a creative nonfiction work on the Australian scientist Sir Mark Oliphant, encompassing the practice of science, its culture, its politics and its intellectual arguments.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor Ann McCulloch

Allison MaplesdenWhose thesis was entitled:

'Toxic Celebrity.'

Summary

An analysis of the media representation of contemporary celebrities who are popularly described as train wrecks, or as famous for being famous. These celebrities are constructed through the discourse of Toxic Celebrity, which produces but also destabilises normative accounts of gender, class and race in contemporary Western culture.

Principal Supervisor:

Professor David Marshall

Adrienne MargarianWhose thesis was entitled:

'A Cross-Cultural Study of Somatic Countertransference.'

Summary

Somatic countertransference is a valuable clinical tool in psychoanalytic practice, which provides the clinician with clues about the emerging, inter subjective and relational field of the analytic dyad. This thesis explores how somatic countertransference occurs and how best to work from a cross-cultural perspective.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Matthew Sharpe

Eko Nugroho Mardi SaputroWhose thesis was entitled:

'Indonesian Approach to ASEAN Plus Three Financial Cooperation: Power Relations, Domestic Politics, and Regulatory Regionalism.'

Summary

This study examines Indonesia's responses to financial regionalism within ASEAN Plus Three cooperation. It derives largely from the discussions, debates and empirical findings on how the Indonesian financial agencies exercise their authority and mandates, formulate policy coordination with international counterparts, and internalize and execute policy options into domestic financial regimes.

Executive Supervisor:

Professor Matthew Clarke

Co-Supervisor:

Professor Baogang He

MASTER DEGREES

MASTER OF ARTS BY RESEARCH

Philip Ian Kemp

Whose thesis was entitled:

'The Monologic, Power and Mental Illness.'

Summary

This thesis considers the issue of the 'Monologic, Power and Mental Illness'. Bakhtin's concept of 'Heteroglossia', Foucault's concept of 'Subjectivation', and the work of other writers in relation to mental illness are covered both in the Exegesis and throughout the creative component comprising excerpts from Kemp's novella entitled 'Haven'.

Principal Supervisor:

Associate Professor Marion Campbell

Rosemary Anne Lever

Whose thesis was entitled:

'Economic and Social Opportunity: The Changing Lives of Aboriginal Victorians.'

Summary

This study examined Aboriginal advantage in Victoria, demonstrating that relatively rapid change is occurring on a number of socio-economic indicators. This research, including interviews with Aboriginal participants, highlighted the interdependence of Aboriginal agency and responsive societal structures as significant enablers of Indigenous progress and advancement.
